

PRODUCT INFORMATION

The articles in this collection are pure natural products! Each piece is unique in terms of appearance and haptic.

They are made from high-quality stoneware, the components of which are various clays and the raw materials quartz and feldspar. The raw materials used may result in different colour nuances on the unglazed outer surfaces. These natural raw materials give the end products their individual appearance and an impressive vibrancy.

The manufacturing process uses traditional artisanal methods: Plates, cups and bowls are manually produced using plaster moulds and templates, just as they have been for centuries.

The colour glazings are also based on pure, natural pigments without the addition of any suspending agents or chemical supplements. Every single item is glazed by hand in an immersion bath, meaning the thickness of the colour glazing layer can vary and so each product is given its individual appearance.

This stoneware collection is fired at approx. 1280°C, so that no further water can penetrate it.

The products are dishwasher-safe and microwave-proof.

We hope you are enjoying our products.
